Brilliant wedding of J. A. Dillon and Miss Mary VanBuskirk.

The marriage of Miss Mary VanBuskirk and John A. Dillon at the Presbyterian church, last Thursday evening, September 27th, has taken its conspicuous place among the most social events of the season. Rarely, if ever, has it been our fortune to commingle with an assembly where the genial smile of satisfaction was so clearly defined upon every face and a spirit of universal enjoyment pervaded the atmosphere. A few minutes before 8 o'clock the friends of the contracting parties began to arrive, and by the hour set for the ceremony, the church was filled to overflowing with a mass of happy humanity. Miss Fannie King took her seat at the organ, and as the sweet strains of the wedding march floated through the rooms, the wedding party entered in the following order:

Mr. N. N. Pierce and Miss Julia Luckhardt.
Dr. C. L. Evans and Miss Bessie Lehmer.

Mr. Sam O'Fallon and Miss Carrie Anderson.
Bride and Groom.

Upon arriving at the altar the Groomsman and Maids separated, the ladies arranging themselves on the left, the gentlemen on the right, the wedding couple in the center, over whose heads hung a lovely wedding veil of natural flowers.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. D. Roberts of the Presbyterian church and was both beautiful and impressive, the solemn obligations conferred upon the bride and groom, and the prayerful solicitation for the interposition of divine aid in their behalf, was delivered in the most faultless language and handsomely adapted to the sacred rites of matrimony.

The bride never looked fairer than on this occasion, dressed in an elegant costume of cream colored satin, with point lace at throat and wrist. The bodice was cut pointed in back and front; the skirt entrain and side panels trimmed with deep Spanish lace, the front was richly shirred. Her hair was worn high and arranged over her head in place by orange blossoms was the handsome bridal veil, which hung low in the back and drooped nearly to the floor. With white kid gloves and slippers; this composed the most lovely bridal toilet we ever beheld.

The bride-maids were all dressed in white swiss elegantly trimmed with cream Spanish lace. The waists were puffed and the skirts made with flounces and side panels. Long loops of ribbon drooped from shoulders and the loopings at the sides. White kid gloves and slippers were also worn by them.

The gentlemen were each faultlessly attired in Prince Albert suits. After the spontaneous beating of hearts, and the two minds with but a single thought had been relieved by the completion of the ceremony, the bridal party repaired to the residence of the bride's parents, Hon. E. VanBuskirk, to partake of a sumptuous wedding feast, after which with many wishes of prosperity and future happiness to the fair couple and amidst hearty handshaking, the jolly crowd (which numbered about 40) dispersed. Mr. and Mrs. VanBuskirk, parents of the bride, proved themselves abundantly able to entertain so large a company in a manner worthy of much praise.

Miss Mary VanBuskirk, the bride, has always been a resident of Oregon from babyhood. She is highly esteemed by a large circle of acquaintances, and her many noble qualities have surrounded her with a multitude of friends.

Mr. Dillon, the groom, who is well and favorably known in our city, is a member of the firm of Dillon, Springer and Son, a successful mercantile firm of Severance, Kansas, and his happy disposition and gentlemanly deportment have made of him one of the most popular young men of Severance. The entire affair was complete and elegant, and we only utter a popular sentiment when we say that the very best wishes of a host of friends and acquaintances follow them onward through the mystic curtain of uncertain futurity.

The following is a list of presents: Gilt edged Bible, Groom's mother, Highland Station, Kansas. Golden Gens of Life, sister Clara Dillon, Highland Station. Owen Meredith's Lucile, C. E. Ross, Kirksville, Missouri. Wall bracket, ebony case, satin finish, Nettie Willard, Kirksville. Ice Pitcher, Ira Peter and wife, Oregon, Missouri.
